KICKOFF

THANKS BRYAN

For the ultimate professional, look no further than Manchester United star Bryan Robson.

Robbo has done a lot for SHOOT down the years, but the former England skipper excelled himself recently when we asked him to train with a group of competition winners.

With the help of New Balance, we arranged for the players of Highfield Grange Under-13s to visit Old Trafford, meet and train with the great man.

What we overlooked at the time was that the date we had set for the coaching session fell the day after United's European Cup clash with Galatasaray in Turkey.

And we all know what happened there!

But despite the bitter disappointment of their exit from the European Cup - not to mention the controversy which followed - Robbo still turned up the next day to make a dream come true for a group of young lads from Wigan.

The idol of the Stretford End spent three hours training, playing and mixing with the star-struck youngsters.

Everyone on SHOOT appreciates Bryan's efforts on a day when his career must have been at one of its lowest ebbs.

The European Cup dream may have died for one season but, knowing Robbo, he'll be leading from the front again next year when United are almost certain to be going in search of the ultimate club prize again.

Inter

Nuff respect!

Norwich boss Mike Walker is revelling in the limelight created by his team's stunning Euro success. Now he wants a bit of credit.

The man who was once sacked by Colchester after winning six games in a row believes a bit of praise is long overdue for his Norwich heroes.

"All last season people were saying the bubble would burst and that we wouldn't last the pace," he says. "The criticism was useful for us to use as a motivation for the players."

"But I don't enjoy it when people fail to recognise what an achievement it was for a club of our resources to qualify for Europe."

"I never said we would win the Championship last season, just as I'm not going to say we'll win the UEFA Cup this time. I just want recognition for trying to play the game the way I think is right."

"It's time people stopped treating us as though we have no right to be up here."

Bargain Boys

Next week's tie will be a real case of Princes v Paupers as Inter's mega-bucks superstars look to put Norwich's budget buys firmly in their place. In fact, the entire Canaries squad which drew with Bayern in their decisive Second Round match at Carrow Road cost less than HALF the £5 million Inter paid Ajax for Dennis Bergkamp in the summer. Here's the bargain basement boys who made such a mess of Munich...

Player	From	Fee
Bryan Gunn	Aberdeen	£150,000
John Polston	Spurs	£300,000
Ian Culverhouse	Spurs	£50,000

Inter Fear

The Inter Milan team which takes on Norwich next week reads like a Who's Who of soccer superstars. These are just a few of the men The Canaries will have to watch...

Dennis Bergkamp:

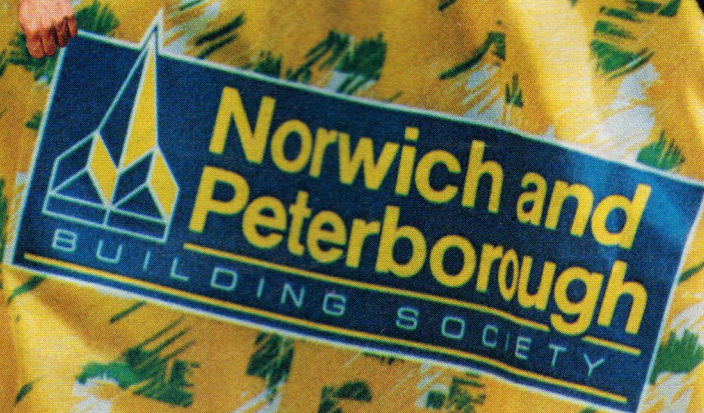

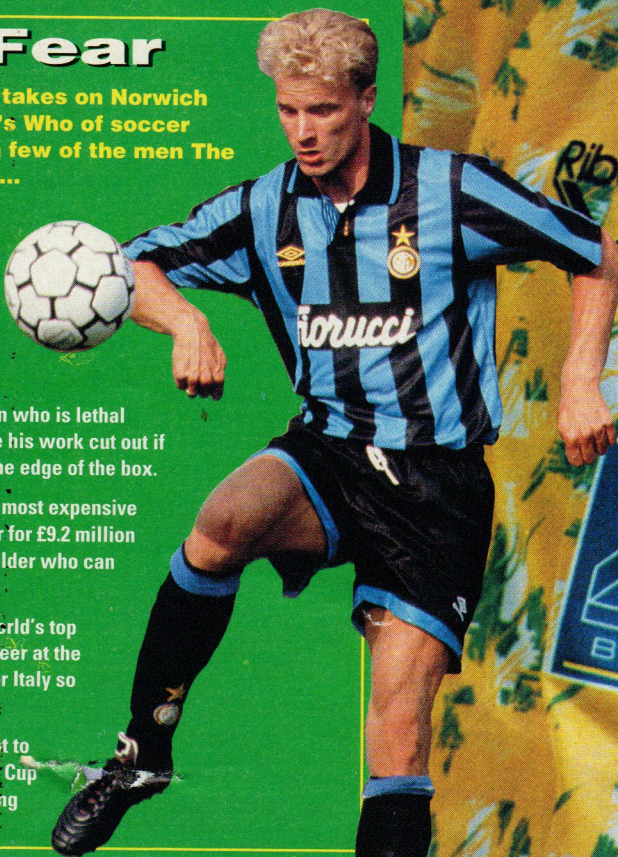

Widely regarded as one of the world's best strikers. No-one in England should need reminding of his talents after the goals he scored for Holland in the World Cup qualifiers.

Ruben Sosa: Silky Uruguayan who is lethal from set-pieces. Bryan Gunn will have his work cut out if Norwich concede any free-kicks on the edge of the box.

Igor Shalimov: Became the most expensive Soviet of all-time when he joined Inter for £9.2 million from Foggia in May 1992. Gifted midfielder who can open up any defence in the world.

Walter Zenga: One of the world's top goalkeepers, he has played all his career at the highest level. Has won over 50 caps for Italy so will take this game in his stride.

Salvatore Schillaci: Shot to fame when he finished the 1990 World Cup finals as top scorer. Had a disappointing spell at Juve but is back to his best.

r mission

Norwich have Milan in their sights

When it comes to European winners medals, Norwich aren't half as badly off as you might expect from a team who'd never crossed the English Channel before this season.

No less than FIVE of Mike Walker's soar-away Canaries have tasted Euro glory before. Trouble is, they all won their medals sitting on the subs bench!

Mark Bowen, Ian Culverhouse and Ian Crook were all on the bench as Spurs beat Anderlecht in the 1984 UEFA Cup Final, Mark Robins was a reserve for Manchester United in the 1991 Cup-Winners' Cup Final against Barcelona and Bryan Gunn was Aberdeen's reserve goalkeeper for the 1983 Cup-Winners' Cup Final defeat of Real Madrid.

We'll Ruel Europe

Ruel Fox aims to show England just what they are missing when he puts himself to the sternest test of his career against Inter hardmen Giuseppe Bergomi and Sergio Battistini. The Norwich speed merchant admits he was "gutted" not to make it into Graham Taylor's squad for this week's World Cup trip to San Marino and says: "I'm playing the best football of my career and really thought I'd get a chance in that game."

"We're second in the League and made the whole country stand up and applaud our efforts against Bayern Munich. It's amazing that not one Norwich player is in the England squad."

Fox will forget the pain of that rejection to turn it on for Norwich in the biggest game of his life against Inter.

Yet the 25-year-old winger openly admits that he very nearly quit Carrow Road after spending the first five years of his career rotting in the reserves.

"When Dave Stringer was in charge he told me very early on that I was not going to be a starter," adds Fox.

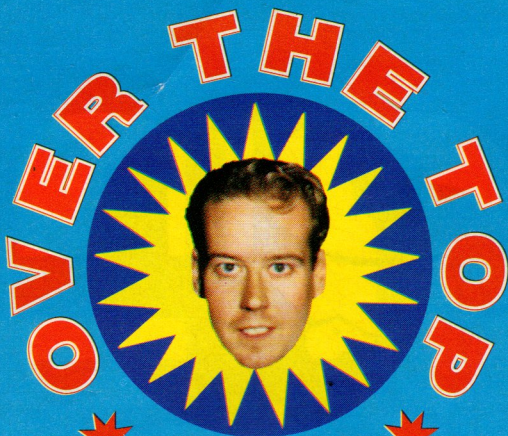

"I thought my chance would finally come when Dale Gordon left for Rangers. But even then I got the same old story about being a squad player and I found the whole thing very upsetting."

"Mike Walker was reserve team manager at the time and we'd often sit down and discuss my future. He'd tell me 'you'd be in my team if I was the manager' and was as good as his word when he took over."

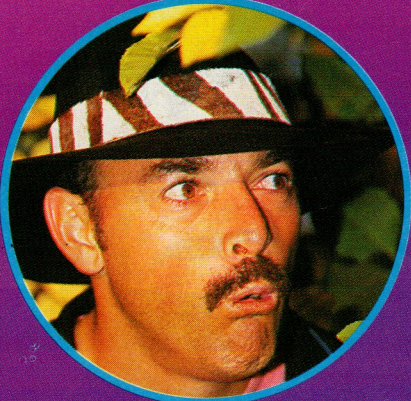

"There was a time when I would have jumped at the chance to leave Norwich and I asked for a transfer a couple of times under Stringer. But I'd be crazy to leave now."

Oh well...

Bolton midfielder Jason McAteer celebrated his recent goal against West Brom in unique fashion. He rushed straight off and proposed to his girlfriend. I wonder what he'll do if he ever scores a hat-trick?

Joe Jordan may not have been Hearts' most popular manager in recent years but he certainly appears to have made an impression on Tynecastle defender Tosh McKinlay. His wife had a baby boy recently and the couple named him...Jordan!

Congratulations to Matthew Wardle of Cheadle in Stockport and Neil Dallison of Kirkby-in-Ashfield, the winners of the Paul Ince competition in our October 30 issue. They correctly stated that Ince began his career with West Ham and their prize is to spend a day with Paul at Old Trafford, courtesy of SHOOT and Coerver. They also go into the draw to win a soccer holiday in America. So you see, for the top comps - stick with SHOOT!

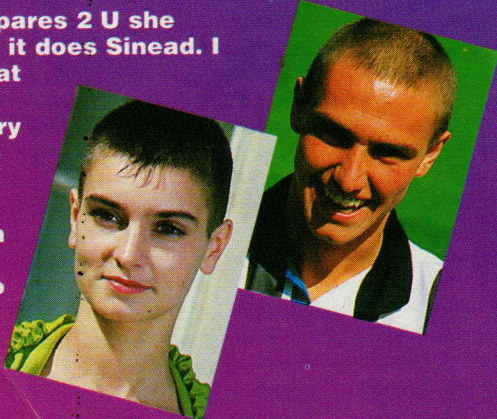

SHOOT designer and walking ego Ceri Sampson recently played in a five-a-side tournament at Highbury to promote Wet Wet Wet's Greatest Hits album. The Wets, who sponsor Clydebank, lost in the Final to an Arsenal Entertainers team, although Marti Pellow didn't play, claiming to be injured. We reckon the soft sweaty didn't want to show off his knobby knees. The Press team which Ceri was part of were sadly outclassed, but he did manage to score. Here's a pic of Tricky holding the trophy they didn't win.

Searching for a Christmas present for your girlfriend? How about a nice Port Vale shirt! Sales of the club kit have gone through the roof since Take That star Robbie Williams was pictured wearing one. Neil Hughes, who runs the club shop, says: "It's incredible. It started with a trickle of enquiries after the picture appeared, then it turned into a flood."

Arsenal coach Pat Rice went to see his old Gunners pal Frank Stapleton when Bradford visited Barnet recently. I wonder if it was just a social call or whether Rice was trying to steal a lead on sought-after striker Sean McCarthy.

While I was flicking through a few back issues the other day I found this intriguing quote. "I don't usually think of the results when I say or do something impulsively. I don't have the ability to calculate the effect of certain actions." And who said it? Yep, Eric Cantona!

The search is on for soccer's saddest man/woman and I reckon this guy is a prime candidate. If you know anyone sadder, or if your club has a sillier mascot, I want to hear from you. Send your suggestions or pics to: SADSTERS, SHOOT Magazine, Kings Reach Tower, Stamford Street, London SE1 9LS.

SCOOPER STRIKER

Our goal-scoring hero kicks off this week's look around the League with a Yorkshire manager trying to mine his way out of trouble.

Tyke That!

Viv Anderson is finding that life as the boss is not all it's cracked up to be.

The former Manchester United and England defender took charge at Barnsley during the summer but things haven't gone as well as he would have hoped.

And the regulars at Oakwell are rapidly running out of patience with his team.

Six defeats in eight home games have set alarm bells ringing in South Yorkshire and Anderson has now found himself under pressure.

Barnsley have slipped into the relegation places and he now faces a real test of his managerial skills.

But the man who led Sheffield Wednesday to two Cup finals last season believes that it is only a matter of time before The Tykes pull themselves together.

"I've changed the system and that takes time to adjust to," he says.

"But we will soon get the silly little things out of our play and we'll see a remarkable change in our League position."

Striker's Shorts

LEICESTER David Speedie's goal exploits are set to earn him a new contract at Filbert Street, but could land Southend boss Barry Fry in jail. "I'd kill for a player like Speedie," says The Shrimpers boss.

NOTTS COUNTY Manager Mick Walker is struggling to keep hold of his prize asset. Both Tottenham and Sheffield United are after midfielder star Mark Draper and he seems certain to leave County for around £1 million.

MILLWALL Manager Mick McCarthy has turned Egyptian healer after midfielder Andy May broke down only 11 minutes into his comeback game against Newcastle. "We are thinking of having him embalmed this week," says the Lions boss.

NOTTINGHAM FOREST Lee Glover has been told by manager Frank Clark how to win over the City Ground boo-boys. Clark says: "I've told Lee there's only one way to get the fans on his side - keep scoring goals."

WOLVES Striker Steve Bull has made a hit at home after scoring a hat-trick against Derby. "The match ball is for my son Jack," says the England international. "I've been trying to win one ever since he was born - 18 months ago. The champagne is for my wife Julie. The goals are all I want."

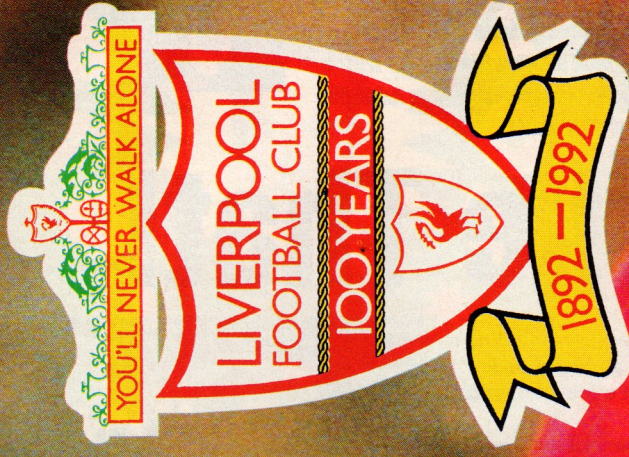

Now turn to page 23 where Striker gets involved in a row over a cup of tea!

Fair or foul

Fed-up with reading about how your favourite players like sugar in their tea in the tiny tot mags? Well, despair no more...it's the super new question and answer feature that leaves the rest standing.

This week we bring you the lowdown on the youngster who has set Anfield alight with his goals - Robbie Fowler.

The player has to answer ten tough and ten easy questions and it's the youngster's turn to face the SHOOT interrogation in the appropriately named Fair or Foul...

FAIR

- Q: What school did you attend?
Robbie: Nugent High School in Wavertree.
- Q: Have any of your friends made it into football?
Robbie: None.
- Q: Who were your heroes as a youngster?
Robbie: Graeme Sharp and Trevor Steven.
- Q: How did you feel about your debut goal at Fulham?
Robbie: It was funny, because I had cramp before I scored it, but felt nothing once it had gone in.
- Q: How did you feel after hitting the five goals in the return leg?
Robbie: Words can't really describe it. I didn't get to sleep until 3.00am because the adrenalin was still pumping.
- Q: How did you celebrate after the game?
Robbie: I went to the chippy with my mate.
- Q: Were your family pleased?
Robbie: Yes, when I got home, my mum gave me a big kiss.
- Q: How do you relax?
Robbie: Before a game I like a frame or two of snooker or maybe watch a comedy film. I like Steve Martin in particular.
- Q: What about your favourite music?
Robbie: I like any music but especially U2. 1992
- Q: Do you feel you have arrived after experiencing such early success?
Robbie: I have learned to take nothing for granted, so no.

FOUL

- Q: Was it difficult making the grade being a local lad?
Robbie: Not really. I'm not the first. Steve McManaman and Mike Marsh did it before me.
- Q: Have you always been a striker?
Robbie: Yes, although I did play left midfield a few times.
- Q: Why did you choose Liverpool when other clubs were interested?
Robbie: I liked the friendliness of the place and the down to earth attitude. I knew it was the club for me from the start.
- Q: What did Ian Rush say to you after you scored five against Fulham?
Robbie: He said 'well done' and those simple words, coming from such a great player, meant something very special.
- Q: What about your comparison with Ian Rush?
Robbie: It's nice to be spoken of in the same breath as him. He's achieved everything in the game. People just don't realise how good he is.
- Q: Were you overawed by the stars when you first started training with the first team?
Robbie: Maybe for the first few weeks but after that I got used to it and was just one of the lads.
- Q: Do you feel affected by your new found fame and headlines?
Robbie: No, I don't feel big time or anything like that. I don't feel it's affecting me at all.
- Q: Can you maintain the high standards you have set?
Robbie: I hope so. I don't think I would be in the position I am if I wasn't capable of doing so.
- Q: Have you had to put up with stick from your friends?
Robbie: No, not really. One of my mates is an Evertonian but he was still jumping up and down when the goals were going in against Fulham. It was pleasing to hear that from an Evertonian.
- Q: Does it bother you having to wear number 23 instead of number nine?
Robbie: No, as long as I'm playing, the number doesn't matter.

Bryan's Just Brill

United skipper makes a dream
come true

It was a once in a lifetime opportunity, and it was all thanks to SHOOT and New Balance. We offered you the chance to meet, and train, with Bryan Robson and, all you had to do, was send in a set of pen-pics of your team. Well, Stuart Twist of Highfield Grange Under-13s, was chosen by our panel of judges as the best. So we took him and his team-mates to Old Trafford to meet the man himself...

The day began with a tour of Old Trafford, including the dressing-rooms, the police control room and the players' lounge. But that was just a prelude for the fun to come.

As the lads tucked into burgers and chips in one of the Old Trafford restaurants, Robbo walked in and was met by excited chatter from 15 eager young fans.

After a lengthy autograph signing session and photocall it was off to the Cliff training ground for the part they were all looking forward to...the training session.

Robson put the youngsters through their shooting paces before joining in a lively eight-a-side game.

But, despite his influence, his team were well beaten - and he didn't even score!

Everyone agreed that it was a great day out and manager Colin Shawcross added: "We all had a superb time. It was tremendous."

Colin's only regret was that he and fellow parents Keith Baldwin, Jim Twist and Andy Price, were too old to take part!

As yet, none of Stuart's team-mates has seen his winning entry...until now! Because here, for the first time, is the winning prose...

Stewart Price: He's got to be the best 'keeper in the league, but his kit has to be the worst. He has a black, green, pink and blue jersey and long pink shorts.

Mark Court: Youngest member of our squad and fancies himself as a bit of a Paul Warhurst. In fairness though, he does have the same haircut.

Unfortunately, that's where the resemblance ends!

Paul Hart: An Arsenal fan who never backs out of a tackle. If I had a pound for every time he mentions Ian Wright I'd be able to afford to have Bart-Williams put on my Sheffield Wednesday shirt.

Paul Baldwin: He's our superstar having recently got on at Liverpool. Bit of a poser and uses more hair gel than the rest of us use in a year. He's got all the latest gear.

Danny Coulton: Bertie Bassett because he plays in 'allsorts' of positions. Better passer of a ball than Paul Ince and his only fault is that he's a Man United fan.

Jon Brittain: Came to training recently in a pair of yellow and green striped shorts that were down to his ankles. He has some ridiculous clothes and they are matched by his so-called back flip when he scores.

Rob Williams: Goes down the right flank faster than lightning and can also play at right-back. New signing this season and what a bargain. Has had trials with the best team in the world, Everton.

Andy Shawcross: Shawty, because of his name and height, is a cheeky little character. Even though he's only small, good Wayne Gardner: Not one of the quickest strikers in the world, but one of the best finishers. I blame his speed (or lack of it) on the fact that he wears more jewellery than MC Norbert.

Brendan Lyons: Club joker and he often gets into trouble. He's not the most intelligent of people but makes up for it with his football.

John McMullen: Joined us this season from Typhoons and gets a lot of stick about them. Quiet guy off the field, but when he's on the pitch you definitely know about it.

Mark McMullen: Younger brother of John, he filled in for Pricey when he was on holiday. Has a red head and sets fire to the ball when he heads it.

Liam Roby: One of my schoolmates, he's a big fan of Manchester City. People seem to think he's quiet but, if you knew him like I do, you'd know better.

and finally...

Stuart Twist: Well, I'm just a great captain and generally an easy going person. I often take stick about losing the toss but I win one in every three... years, that is!

United They Stand

They may be out of Europe, but United's season is far from over. If anything, their Turkish nightmare has strengthened their resolve to win the Championship again as SHOOT discovered...

Those people who wrote off Manchester United after their European Cup exit were made to eat their words last weekend.

In the past two years, both Arsenal and Leeds have suffered major European hangovers after crashing out of the Champions' Cup in the Second Round.

But United's answer was to come back from 2-0 down to win the Manchester derby 3-2. More a party than a hangover.

Bryan Robson had to settle for a place on the bench at Maine Road but he will play his part as the season unfolds and he desperately wants to get his hands on the Premiership trophy again.

"Reaching the league stages of the European Cup was the thing we wanted this year and we've failed to achieve it," he admits.

"The only way to make amends is to win the League in style and earn ourselves another crack at the European Cup next season.

"The only good thing is that the younger players will have learnt from this season's experience and will be better for it next time.

"But for now we just want to win the Championship again, and hopefully one of the Cups as well."

Simply The Best

Bryan Robson rates this United team as the best he's played in. And he should know.

Robbo has been the backbone of Old Trafford since he joined the club from West Brom 12 years ago.

"The side we had between 1983-1985 was an excellent one, but this team has achieved more so I'd have to say it's the best," he says.

"And it can only get better.

Players like Ryan Giggs, Lee Sharpe and Roy Keane are only young lads and they're going to carry on improving."

But what about the future for Robson himself?

"I'm enjoying my football at the moment," he says. "I'll assess my fitness at the end of the season before deciding whether to carry on."

"It would be nice to have another crack at the European Cup. Mind you, at the minute, I've got enough on my hands just getting in the team!"

Here it is - the computer crazy page for all you joypad giants. This week Metro gives you another chance to play a top striker in your home, and brings you the lowdown on the super SNES game Mario All Stars. All this plus the chance to win a SNES and Mario All Stars game...it's only in the top computer column in the business...

GAME Nintendo[®] BUSTERS

WIN

Here's your chance to win a super NES console and Mario All Stars game.

How? That's easy...just look at our picture of the caped crusader and tell us which footballer looks most like Mario. The winner will be the reader who sends us the most original comparison.

We in the office here at SHOOT reckon he's the spitting image of David Seaman...but can you come up with some of your own? Remember a super NES and Super Mario All-Stars is up for grabs.

METRO'S MASTER MARX REVIEW

GAME: SUPER MARIO ALL STARS (SNES).

There's great news this month for all Mario fans with a SNES system. It's the release of Super Mario All-Stars which features FOUR different games from the NES Super Mario series in a single 16-Meg pack - including Super Mario Bros, Super Mario Bros 2, Super Mario Bros 3 and Super Mario Bros - the Lost Levels.

The latter has only been released in Japan and, although it is similar to Super Mario Bros 1 in gameplay, it's very difficult.

And don't think it's just a straight transfer of the NES game either. All games have had their graphics and sound track updated.

My personal favourite is Super Mario 3. This series of games has made history with their popularity and will be remembered as the most consistently brilliant series ever - so don't you think it should be in your collection?

THE GREATEST VIDEO GAME CHALLENGE ON WHEELS!

The world's largest games manufacturer, Nintendo, now launches THE CHALLENGER! It's the most action-packed games show on the road.

Nintendo's 21-ton silver juggernaut carries the greatest Nintendo line-up ever on all formats and will be stopping at the best hot-spots and events up and down the country. The show of the year will be seen by hundreds of thousands of Nintendo's British fans. Games players of all ages can take the controls and all the exciting challenges are completely free.

The Mighty Metro, Nintendo's UK champion, will be making special guest appearances, dishing out his own brand of tips and tricks to all comers.

Challenge is the name of the game and there will be plenty of prizes to win.

You can test your skills on Super Nintendo, Game Boy and the Nintendo Entertainment System. Among the top games on board are Streetfighter II Turbo, Super Mario All Stars, Battletoads and Aladdin.

The challenger will be blasting its way to a gig or show near you soon. To check out the schedule ring the Nintendo hotline on 0703 652222.

It's Ninteractive and Ninccredible!

THAT'S LIFE

1 That's me and my sister Mandy when I was five and she was eight. Mandy works for Freeman's Catalogue now and she'll love me for showing you this.

2 I'm the one on the left and I'm playing one of the three kings in the school nativity play, but I don't know which one. I can't have been much good either as it was my first, and only, appearance on stage.

3 It's 1975 and I'm in the third year at St Joseph's School in Orpington. They put me in the back row as the lads weren't the best looking fellas in the world and they wanted me to improve things.

4 My wife Sarah and I at the charity ball after the Terry Wogan Golf Classic in Waterford last June...

5 ...and that's me the morning after the charity ball at the Terry Wogan Golf Classic! Mind you, the way I played, I reckon I must have had a few beers before the golf!

6 My favourite picture - me challenging Ruud Gullit and Frank Rijkaard for a header, and winning. This is a painting of the photo and hangs in the hallway at home.

7 Lining up to play England in the 1988 European Championship. As the anthems were playing that shot appeared on the giant screen. The bloke next to me is good looking, ain't he? OK, boss!

8 I'm Popeye the Sailor Man...the Celtic players' Christmas party in 1991 and I went as Popeye because it was the only costume I could get to fit me!

9 An Irish magazine - The Tribune - wanted to feature players in different environments so we did this shot of me and my son Michael and it made the front cover. Fame at last.

10 Meet the boys. That's Michael, who's four, on the right and Teddy, who's 18 months. But what's he doing in tartan?

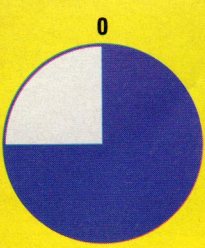

It's the hottest new feature around and gives you a unique insight into the stars' family albums. We go where no magazine has gone before to bring you the private moments of the game's top names. And this week we popped in to see Chelsea striker TONY CASCARINO...

THE DREAM TEAM

Build a team of world beaters for £20million

Great New Series!

Fancy yourself as a top soccer boss? Reckon you could build a better, star-studded side than Kenny Dalglish? Well, now's your chance to prove it. The big spending Blackburn boss has splashed out more than £20 million in his quest to build a Championship-winning side.

Now you can do the same.

We are taking on the role of sugar daddy and giving you an imaginary £20m to spend on your 'Dream Team'.

Over the next few weeks we will provide you with a list of players and their market values - starting with goalkeepers this week, defenders next week...etc...etc.

Then it's down to you to decide which players you want in your team. But, remember, you cannot exceed your £20m budget on your chosen 11 players.

When you've seen all the players on offer and have selected your team of world-beaters, send your line-up to us and our soccer experts will decide on the winning side.

WIN A DAY WITH A TOP SOCCER BOSS

The sender of the winning entry will receive a magnificent prize - a day in the company of a top League manager.

Yes, we will arrange for the lucky winner to visit a top club, watch the boss put the players through their paces on the training ground and also see what goes on behind the scenes.

It's a unique prize, but then what do you expect from the number one soccer mag?

We will reveal the name of the manager in question in a forthcoming issue - and give you details of some fab runners-up prizes.

KEEPER CAPERS

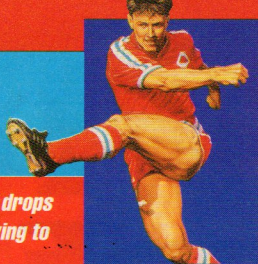

Listed below are the names of ten top stoppers and their transfer valuations. Choose your keeper now, but don't lose the list because you may change your mind when you select your defenders, midfielders and strikers over the next few weeks:-

Player	Club	Value
Tim Flowers	Blackburn	£2m
Peter Schmeichel	Man.United	£2.5m
Tony Coton	Man.City	£1.8m
Dave Beasant	Southampton	£300,000
Andy Goram	Rangers	£2m
Chris Woods	Sheff.Wed	£750,000
David Seaman	Arsenal	£2.5m
Mark Bosnich	Aston Villa	£1m
Bryan Gunn	Norwich	£1.25m
Erik Thorstvedt	Spurs	£600,000

SCOOPER STRIKER

Our tartan hero jets over the border and drops in at Parkhead where the new boss is trying to hang on to his troops.

Macari magic

New Celtic boss Lou Macari has turned peace negotiator with stunning success.

Now the club's rebels are lining up to sign new contracts and there is a refreshing air of confidence at Parkhead.

Mike Galloway has settled his future after months of worrying. The 28-year-old defender now has a different outlook after a meeting with the sweet-talking boss.

"I'm walking around with a smile on my face," says Galloway. "It took ten minutes to sort things out and I couldn't be happier."

Unfortunately 'Iron' Mike was soon brought down to earth with an operation on his damaged right knee and three weeks out of action.

Scottish international John Collins has also decided to stay at the Glasgow club after the uncertainty of the past few months.

"I must admit I was worried, especially after Liam Brady and then Joe Jordan left the club," says the midfielder. "Now I sense that Celtic are about to take off under Lou Macari and I want to be part of that."

But Collins is not expecting miracles from The Bhoys. "I'm not kidding myself. We have a long hard season ahead but I'm quietly confident."

Striker's Shorts

DUNDEE Manager Ivan Golac has finally landed long-time transfer target and fellow slav Gordon Petric from Partizan Belgrade. And he won't cost United a penny...just yet. Serbian clubs are banned from receiving any money by the UN and the cash will sit in a Luxembourg bank until the embargo is lifted.

HEARTS It's true, John Major does have a heart! In fact, last week he had two Hearts...to dinner at No.10. Tynecastle chairman Wallace Mercer and his wife Anne were guests of the PM at Downing Street.

PARTICK There is a special Bond between the club and the supporters in the lease-a-seat scheme, James Bond. 007 Sean Connery is among the impressive roll call of fans - including Billy Connolly, Liz McColgan, Gregor Fisher, alias Rab C. Nesbitt, and Labour leader John Smith - who have bought a seat in the new £2.3m stadium.

RANGERS

Manager Walter Smith has been offered Ibrox-daft striker Gordon Durie for a knockdown £1.4m. But Rangers chairman David Murray, in negotiations with Spurs chief Alan Sugar, won't bite at the price the White Hart

Lane are asking but may if it comes down to £1m.

Geordie Boys!

SHOOT and Imagineer the tops for prizes!

Competition winners Steven Maxwell and Christian Johnson-Issacs thought it was Christmas when they were the first names picked out of the hat for the fabulous Imagineer Kevin Keegan Player Manager Competition.

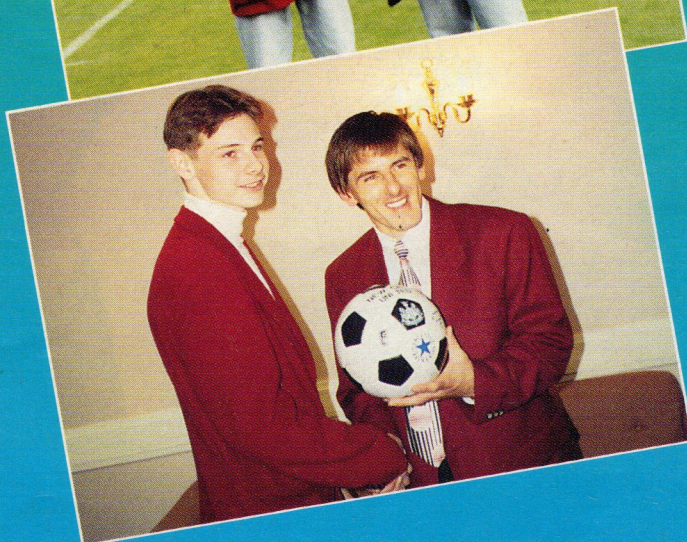

As guests of Imagineer, the two lads were thrilled to have ringside seats for Newcastle's Premier League clash against Wimbledon.

Then they were given a tour of the Geordie club's dressing-rooms and a walk out onto the hallowed turf of St James' Park. What's more, Newcastle won 4-0.

The day didn't end there though. Imagine how they felt when they were introduced to hat-trick hero and Man of the Match Peter Beardsley?

Then, to cap it all off, they met the guv'nor himself Kevin Keegan, the manager of The Magpies.

So for the best competitions, the latest console games and the chance to meet the stars, SHOOT is once again in a league of its own.

QUESTION

In which country are next year's World Cup finals being held?

Div 2

SCOOPER STRIKER

Our roving reporter visits Valley Parade and finds a storm in a tea-cup.

Prickly Frickley

Bradford City bosses have been banned from Frickley Athletic's boardroom after signing Wayne Scargill from the Northern League side.

The non-Leaguers are furious that the Yorkshire club haven't paid a fee for the 22-year-old defender, although the player was not under contract.

Frickley vice-chairman Raymond Hepworth says: "They are under no obligation to give us anything but usually in transfers between non-League and League clubs they have the decency to offer a small payment.

"Bradford haven't even offered us a cup of tea. We are very upset at the way things have been handled." But The Bantams have promised to send a team to Frickley for a pre-season friendly next summer as a peace offering.

Chairman David Simpson insists: "The fact is he was not their player to sell. They should have made him sign a contract. We did everything by the book."

Striker's Shorts

BRENTFORD The Bees have come up with a novel way of getting a good press. Manager David Webb has promised the assembled hacks at Griffin Park a bottle of whiskey at the end of home games.

BARNET Player-manager Gary Phillips is poised to move into the transfer market to stop the slide at Underhill. The Robins' boss says: "I'm looking to get two or three players. I have a couple of names in mind and have been given the financial go-ahead to move in."

HUDDERSFIELD The Terriers are throwing cubs into the lions den. Manager Neil Warnock has drafted in a team of young hopefuls. 19-year-old Simon Collins joins 18-year-old Rodney Bowe and 20-year-old Andrew Booth at Leeds Road.

On page 25 Striker finds another boardroom squabble. There's a lot of it about, isn't there?

Clocked

We've put our stopwatch on the goals in the Scottish Premier and uncovered the fact that 33 per cent more goals were scored in the second - half than in the first. Not a lot of people know that!

SCOOPER STRIKER

Striker ends his look at the English League scene at a club that can't keep out of the news.

Boro's boardroom barney

Scarborough's boardroom wrangles are currently grabbing more headlines than the team.

The latest instalment reads like something out of an American soap opera.

Geoffrey Richmond has now returned to the seaside club as chairman, and three other directors have resigned.

First, Richmond (inset) himself quit when the other directors refused to increase admission charges to raise money for new players.

Then the directors found themselves powerless because of Richmond's majority shareholding in the club, so they left.

The see-saw struggle finally ended when Richmond and his wife, Elizabeth, returned to 'The Boro' board as Chairman and director. The couple join long-standing Chief Executive and President, John Birley, in the executive lounge.

On the pitch, boss Steve Wicks is pulling Boro out of the mire with two wins in three games since taking over but will they all live happily ever after? Watch this space.

Striker's Shorts

DONCASTER There
aren't many familiar faces
at Belle Vue nowadays.
When goalie Stuart Ford
made his debut recently he was the 21st Rover to do so this season! Nine new signings kicked-off in August and since then manager Steve Beaglehole has brought in a whole new team.

PRESTON Manager
John Beck is looking at a super Scot to strengthen his Third Division
Championship ambitions.
The Preston boss has been watching Martin Stewart, who has been showing amazing striker skills with non-League Huntley.

WALSALL Manager
Kenny Hibbitt has ordered striker Jason Willis to lose more weight. Hibbitt says:
"He's lost seven-and-a-half pounds but still has a lot of work to do."

WYCOMBE The League
newcomers are facing up to reality after their bright start to the season. First team coach Paul Franklin says, "Our supporters thought we'd walk through the Third Division, but I think they now realise how tough it is."

Now turn to page 32 where Striker meets a man trying to keep his team together.

TOP OF THE FORM

Join the race to find the country's soccer quiz kings

THE SEARCH IS ON to find the school with the sharpest soccer brains in the country.

The competition will run between now and the end of the season - and it's down to you whether your school takes part in this unique soccer trivia quiz.

We want you to join forces with two of your classmates to form a team to take on trivia trios from schools all over the country.

By the end of the season, following a process of elimination and knock-out competitions, we will have come up with the school that's 'Top of the Form' when it comes to soccer knowledge.

THIS IS HOW IT WORKS

* Your first step is to form a team of three from your school. The age categories are: 7-11 and 12-16.

* Then you must talk to your PE teacher or form teacher and ask him/her to fill in the official entry form at the bottom of the page.

* When we have received all the entries we will send each competing school an exam sheet containing 50 soccer trivia questions.

* And this is where you need the co-operation of your PE/Form teacher because we want him/her to conduct the 20-minute 'exam' and return the questionnaire to us with the answers.

We will then mark all the quiz papers before selecting the schools who will then go on to the knock-out stage. More about that in forthcoming issues.

In the meantime, take the entry form on this page to your teacher and ask him/her to fill it in and return to us at the following address: Top of the Form Challenge, SHOOT Magazine, King's Reach Tower, Stamford Street, London SE99 0BB.

Twelve months ago, Darren Salton's world was shattered when he was involved in a horror car crash. The young Luton defender spent three weeks in a coma and everyone assumed that his career was over. But, as IAN CRUISE discovered, Salton is going to prove them all wrong...

Darren Salton is lucky to be alive. There are no two ways about it.

His world was turned upside down last November when the car he was sharing with Luton team-mate Paul Telfer ploughed into another vehicle as they went around a bend.

Salton, who was in the passenger seat, remembers nothing about the crash but he has a constant reminder every time he looks at his leg.

Because the scars are there for all to see and it's not a pretty sight, believe me.

"I came round in the hospital and didn't have a clue what had happened," he recalls. "All I could see were all these pins sticking out of my leg."

The fact that he was around at all was a minor miracle. A woman died in the smash and Darren knows that both he and Paul were lucky to survive.

But Salton also believes there was more to it than luck. "I've never been that religious but I've always believed in God," he says. "I'm sure that someone up there was looking after me."

Even so, he was in a coma for three weeks and spent almost three months in Addenbrooke's hospital before going home to Edinburgh to continue his rehabilitation.

He returned to Luton in August and is stepping up his training.

"At the time of the accident I didn't even think about football," he adds. "I just wanted to walk again."

"But I'm getting stronger all the time."

"The pins will stay in for another year or two but I can play with them in. I'm aim to be back in training by March."

"I know I've got a long way to go but I wouldn't be working this hard if I wasn't sure I could do it."

THE BIG STORY

It wasn't only Darren Salton who suffered after the accident. It took a long while for Paul Telfer's scars to heal too.

The Hatters star wasn't physically injured but the mental pain was all too real.

The pair grew up together in Edinburgh, came down to Luton together and shared a house so you can imagine how Telfer felt as his best friend lay in a coma.

"It was very hard for Paul at that time," admits Darren. "I think the accident will always be in his head."

"It took him a while to get back into the swing of things but, as I'm getting better, so is he. He's more positive."

"And you have to be positive, there's no point in feeling resentment and bitterness about what happened."

"The accident has definitely changed my outlook on life. I'm not so serious now. I don't let things wind me up any more."

And, just for good measure, the story has a happy ending.

Paul will be Darren's best man when he marries fiancée Sarah in June 1995.

WIN A FOOTBALL SIGNED BY ENGLAND

There's still a chance for England to qualify for USA '94, albeit a slim one. So let's hope our lads can stick a sackful of goals in the San Marino net and hope that Holland lose away to Poland.

SHOOT, together with M&M's, SNICKERS and MARS, official snackfood of the 1994 World Cup, are giving their full support to England in their quest for qualification and are giving you the chance to win a football signed by the Graham Taylor's side.

All you have to do is answer the following question:

What was the score when England last played San Marino at Wembley?

If you would like to win this super prize, signed by stars such as David Platt, Andy Sinton, David Seaman, Stuart Pearce, Alan Shearer, Ian Wright and Gary Pallister, send your entry, together with your name and address, on a postcard to: SHOOT/M&M's, SNICKERS, MARS competition, 25th Floor, King's Reach Tower, Stamford Street, London SE99 0BB.

Correct entries will be put into a draw and the lucky winner will also receive a goody bag full of M&M's, SNICKERS and MARS Bars. So if you want to win this super prize - compliments of M&M's, SNICKERS and MARS - send in your entry now!

Get a pizza of the Serie A action

Bubbly Baggio

Roberto Baggio grabbed his 100th goal in Serie A with the hat-trick which inspired Juventus to a 4-0 win over Genoa. The Italian international celebrated the landmark in true continental style...with champagne, what else?

It's grim for Gazza

Paul Gascoigne's unhappy stay in Italy might be over - in more ways than one.

The Lazio ace has been plagued by injuries since his £5.5 million move to the Italian side last year and the club are losing patience with the midfield maestro.

Rumours are beginning to circulate that Gazza's career is on the line and he now faces another operation on his Achilles tendon which would keep him out of action until next year.

The Geordie star flew to London for treatment from former Tottenham physio John Sheridan, after only four appearances for Lazio this season, but he looks likely to go under the surgeon's knife again.

But despite his injury fears, Gazza is still in demand. Blackburn are said to have tabled a bid for the 26-year-old England international and Lazio club official Mario Pennacchia says: "I can confirm that Blackburn have asked whether Paul is available."

"Our president Sergio Cagnotti doesn't usually sell players during the season but we are waiting for his decision on Paul." And the £8 million arrival of Croat Alen Boksic from Marseille has cast more doubts over his future.

Boksic's arrival brings the number of foreign imports at the club to four and the striker impressed in his debut in the 2-1 win over Napoli.

But Pennacchia says Gazza's future is in his own hands.

"After Paul gets back from his latest injury he has a test to pass. He has the ability to change a game but we must have him at his best."

All change

Atalanta wasted no time clearing the decks after a 5-1 thrashing by bottom club Lecce plunged them into the Serie A relegation zone. Coach Francesco Guidolin was replaced by youth team boss Claudio Prandelli, the former Juventus midfielder, and Brazilian international Alemão (above) was sacked as skipper and dropped from the first-team.

Multi-million Miracle

Milan star Gianluigi Lentini could be back in the first-team within four weeks. The £13 million

Italian international has been told he can start full training again after a horrific pre-season car crash.

Who's a clever boy, Sven?

Sampdoria coach

Sven-Goran Eriksson believes it's time that football matches are controlled by two referees.

"Football is much faster now than it used to be and the players are more cunning," he says. "One referee on his own cannot see everything that goes on." Eriksson made the remarks despite his team's three controversial goals in their 3-2 win over Italian champions Milan.

MILAN AWAY SHIRT

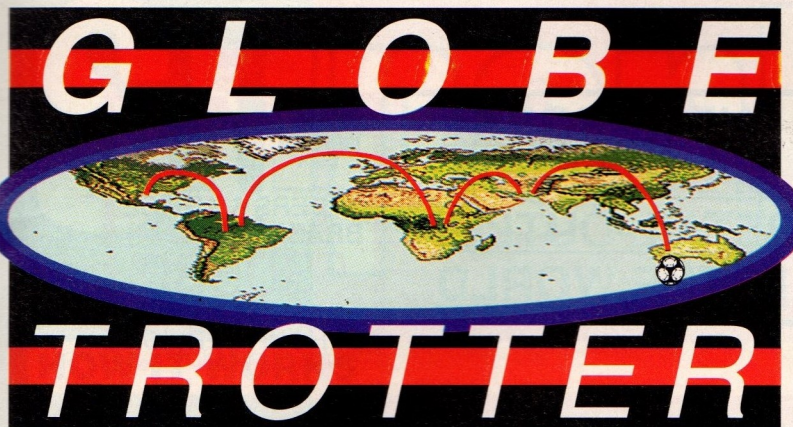

We'll be giving away prizes galore on our SHOOT Italia pages every week - thanks to our friends at Lotto.

The No.1 Italian sportswear company has linked up with Britain's No.1 soccer magazine to bring you a host of goodies as we test your Serie A knowledge.

Just tackle the question and ring the SHOOT HOTLINE on 0891 909336 with the answer, leaving your name, address and chest size.

The first correct entry selected after the closing date of November 22 will receive a Milan away shirt. Calls cost 36p per minute (cheap rate) and 48p at all other times.

QUESTION: From which club did Milan sign Gianluigi Lentini?
a) Torino b) Fiorentina c) Lazio

GERMANY

Karlsruhe striker Edgar Schmitt celebrated a miraculous escape from death by scoring four goals in the 7-0 UEFA Cup thrashing of Spanish League leaders, Valencia.

The previous weekend he wrote off his car, but somehow emerged unscathed and helped the Bundesliga side to overcome the 3-1 first-leg deficit.

SPAIN

Barcelona has certainly made Johan Cruyff and his family welcome.

Jordi (left), the son of the Dutch legend, has signed a four-year contract with the Spanish giants exactly 20 years to the day after his father made a two-goal debut for Barcelona in a 4-0 win over Granada.

Reserve 'keeper Jesus Angoy is also married to Johan Cruyff's daughter, Chantal.

ROMANIA

Ion Danciulescu is the new wonder boy of Romanian football. The 16-year-old has just made his League debut for Electroputere of Craiova.

SWITZERLAND

The Brazilian international's career is now in doubt. He alleges that the Dutch defender deliberately elbowed him in the 2-0 defeat of Lucerne.

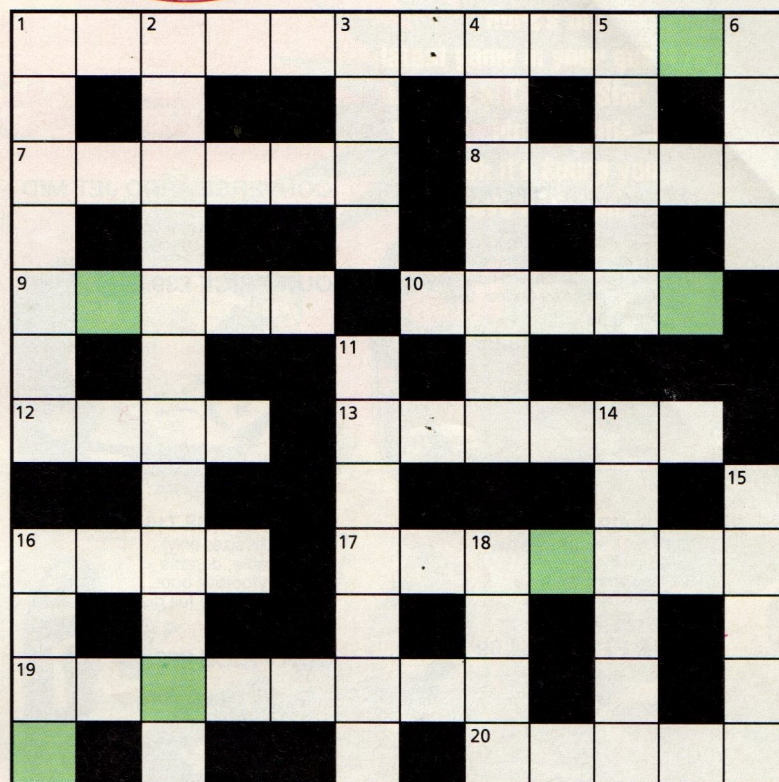

USA

United States' World Cup centre-back Tom Dooley (above) may have problems thanking the US Federation for his Player of the Year award. The German-born ex-Kaiserslautern star is taking English lessons.

new balance

This week's Star Letter comes from Bill Payne of St. Dunstons Lane, Hanwell, London W7. He wins a pair of New Balance boots.

NORWICH

Congratulations to Norwich on their magnificent performances against Bayern Munich in the UEFA Cup. But surely they won't beat Inter Milan in the next round?

NUNEATON,
WARWICKSHIRE

I wouldn't bet on it. Norwich have been a very good team for the past 18 months and just because we've all been ignoring them doesn't mean they're not good enough to go all the way. They certainly beat Bayern fair and square, no matter what sour Kraut Lothar Matthaus might say. But having said all that, Bayern aren't half as good as Inter and Norwich couldn't have got a tougher draw.

FLOWERS

Tim Flowers might be a good goalkeeper, but surely he's not worth the £2.4 million which Blackburn have just paid for him?

ALAN BISHOP
HINCKLEY, LEICS

Of course he isn't. It's just a sad reflection of the current state of British goalkeeping, which has never been lower. Twenty years ago every First Division side had a Tim Flowers. Now clubs are fighting over each other to pay way over the odds for him.

PICK OF THE POST

What is the point of the Premier Leagues's investigation into dodgy transfer deals? We all know they go on and if people are making a few quid on the side then good luck to them.

As long as money is involved, there is always going to be someone making a nice little earner. That's the way of the world. It certainly isn't something which is unique to football. It's going on from the barrow boys at the local market right through to the biggest multi-national companies in the world. Even the churches charge £1 for a candle that costs a couple of pence! If the game really wanted to clean up the transfer market, they would ban all moves during the course of the season. All transfers would be made during the summer and a club would have to finish the season with the same squad of players with which it started. Even that wouldn't solve the problem completely, but at least it would stop unscrupulous people taking advantage of desperate managers with more money than sense.

WIMBLEDON

Wimbledon seem to reckon that their players are good enough to play for England but are ignored because of the image of the club. What do you reckon?

HENRY DAVIES, CATFORD

It's true that moving to certain clubs improves a player's international prospects, but if anyone is really that good they wouldn't be ignored by England because of the team they play for. Tim Flowers proved that at Southampton. Anyway, if Wimbledon developed somebody good enough to play for England, they'd flog him at the first chance!

ARSENAL

What the hell is going on at Arsenal? No goals in the League for over a month and then they go and score seven in one away game in the Cup-Winners' Cup!

DAVID LEAVES, BILLERICAY

The last time Arsenal scored seven, Ted Drake was playing up front! Standard Liege must be one hell of a bad side to suffer a result like that. But you still have to credit Arsenal for taking full advantage. They're a good side in spite of their League results and I'm backing them to win the Cup-Winners' Cup.

At last it seems that Derby are finally getting their act together. What a pity they couldn't do it while Arthur Cox was in charge.

OWEN PARSONS
HEANOR, DERBY

I hope they do win promotion because it will vindicate Arthur Cox. He spent a lot of money putting the team together and they let him down by taking so long to get the right results. Nothing has really changed under Roy McFarland except that the unproven players are starting to look the part. Derby would be a welcome addition to the Premier League. They're a bigger club than the likes of Blackburn could ever be.

GEEK OF THE WEEK

Now they've beaten Manchester United, surely Galatasaray are going to win the European Cup?

JOHN HENRY,
LEEDS

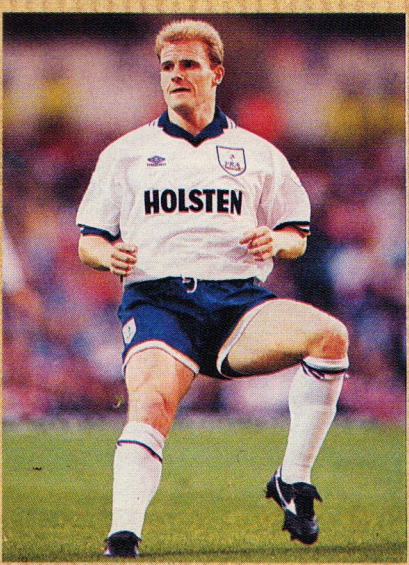

Do me a favour mate. What are you on? OK, they did well to beat United but they're still a second rate side. United blew it at Old Trafford but no-one else is going to be that generous. There's as much chance of them winning the Cup as of me being the next Prime Minister.

I cannot believe that Gordon Durie had the nerve to appeal against the fine imposed on him for swearing at Spurs manager Ossie Ardiles. He was lucky not to be sacked.

CHRIS CURTIS,
PETERBOROUGH

If Gordon Durie has got any sense whatsoever, he should keep his head down, his mouth shut and continue taking his £3,000 a week for taking the throw-ins for Spurs' reserves.

Flowered Up!

Blackburn face Southampton this weekend which brings Tim Flowers face-to-face with his old club. But Flowers' move to Ewood Park has highlighted a worrying state of affairs for some of the country's top 'keepers...

The most expensive goalkeeper in the world faces his former team-mates this weekend and in doing so he exposes a tough trend for the top men between the sticks.

Flowers' £2 million move from the South Coast to the North West has shunted Rovers' former number one Bobby Mimms onto the subs bench.

But he's just the tip of a growing list that has seen some of the country's top keepers' having to take their place alongside the two outfield subs and the boss on the bench every game.

While the arrival of big-money Flowers has plunged Mimms' future into doubt, other former 'sub' 'keepers are now getting their chance at last.

Flowers' departure has allowed Saints outcast Ian Andrews to finally grab his lifeline while Dave Beasant, bought as a replacement for Flowers, is forced to occupy the subs spot.

Elsewhere, it's the same story.

At Leeds, Mark Beeney is keeping out John Lukic, at Sheffield Wednesday, Kevin Pressman is holding on to the number one jersey at the expense of England's Chris Woods, and at Tottenham Erik Thorstvedt is making sure Ian Walker remains unhappy.

But while life could scarcely be better for Flowers, you have to feel sympathy for Mimms.

He was the country's most consistent 'keeper last season but has now found himself pushed aside.

Mimms declares: "It was money that didn't need to be spent. Another 'keeper wasn't needed. I was doing well and now I've had the door slammed in my face.

"I just don't understand it. After all the good service I have given to Blackburn, it is very disappointing."

But meet the men on the slide...

The signing of Tim Flowers took Blackburn's spending to an astonishing £22 million, with almost nine million spent since they were promoted two seasons ago. SHOOT put the spotlight on Kenny Dalglish's chequebook charge and found they still come out as the Premiership's powerbrokers. Armed with Jack Walker's millions, Rovers have outbid, out-bought and out-smarted the rest of the big boys who are mere cheapskates when it comes to shelling out the cash as our graph proves...

Who has spent the most since Blackburn were promoted to the Premier

Club	Money spent
Blackburn	£8.6m
Man Utd	£5.75m
Aston Villa	£5.725m
Liverpool	£5.5m
Derby	£5.4m
Newcastle	£4.5m
Leeds	£4.0m
